Details of Disappearance

Wallace Lembke, formerly of W208 Main St, Delafield, was last seen at a tavern on Wells Street in Milwaukee a few days before he was reported missing on Dec. 16, 1982. A night janitor at Templeton Middle School in Sussex, Lembke had phoned in sick on December 14 and did not report for work December 15. Family members reported him missing the next day.

Police initially speculated that Wallace, who lived alone with his two dogs, left on an unannounced vacation. But when traces of his blood and bloodied eyeglasses were found in the trunk of his abandoned car in the parking lot of a Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge in Wauwatosa two weeks later, their attention turned to foul play. They found blood in the car (in the trunk) when it was located at the local Howard Johnson's, but didn't have a sample of Wallace's blood to compare it to (this was 1982, remember)

Actions

Do they still have the blood?

Details of Disappearance

He was last seen on Water Street in Eau Claire before losing contact with friends. He had been denied entry to the Pickle Bar because of how drunk he was. Liedtka separated from his friends later on in the evening but had telephone contact with one of them at approximately 12:25 am Sunday morning. James was last seen at 1:13am on November 4th walking Eastbound behind the Pickle Tavern. Liedtka is an Army veteran who served in Afghanistan.

I personally don't buy the foul play angle and believe he fell into the river. If you wish to explore the foul play stuff, Websleuths link has a discussion of it and the Vanished podcast.

Details of Disappearance

Unfortunately, Valerie reportedly overdosed and her body was disposed of by someone she was using with. Her family would like to recover her remains. From the blog at right: Dubbed "Operation Lake Effect," the investigation started in early 2007 when Milwaukee police pulled over Lonnie L. "G-money" Johnson, 31, who is identified as the Chicago-based supplier of the ring, according to a 70-count criminal complaint...

Last August, Valerie Luszk came to a house at N. 18th and W. Nash streets in Milwaukee to use heroin and died when she injected the drugs. Louis Brown told police he wrapped Luszk's body in a sheet and dumped it in a garbage cart.

Actions

Patrol Case #138281, Investigative Report #2019-00973

Details of Disappearance

Lyons disappeared from the Menominee Indian Reservation in Keshena on June 4th, 2017. He was last seen riding an ATV four wheeler on the reservation near Long Marsh Road and has never been seen or heard from since. The day of his disappearance, Lyons was not wearing a shirt and he left behind his cell phone at his residence.

Lyons' ATV four wheeler was found abandoned five days later near the intersection of Long Marsh Road and Rushes Lake Road. Despite multiple searches conducted, he was never located. Officials were unable to rule out foul play in his disappearance and his whereabouts remain unknown. Rumors are flying about how this case and the case of Justin Dickinson could be related or retaliatory.
