Details of Disappearance

On December 6, 1989 Kerry O'Brien-Krueger was reported missing by her husband. Tracy Krueger reported her missing after receiving a phone call from her coworker at Gander Mountain who was concerned when she failed to show up for work. Krueger told police he believed Kerry was away on business in Wyoming. Police later learned there was no trip scheduled. She has ties to the Madison area.

Husband's Statements: Gave conflicting information about her travel plans and whereabouts Held in January 1990, a polygraph test of her husband had results inconclusive. Husband suffered a stroke that affected his memory, so he has not been questioned further. After extensive questioning of friends and family members, police were still unsure whether Kerry disappeared of her own accord or if foul play was involved. She showed no signs of depression and there was no history of family trouble. She has never been seen again. Her daughter strongly believes her father had nothing to do with it.
