Details of Disappearance

On July 7, 1958 Mildred's divorce was granted against her husband. That day after court, Mildred had contact with a family member. Later that evening Mildred was supposed to meet another person (their identity is not known). Mildred has not been seen or heard of since July 7, 1958. Her husband, Norman Stiller, committed suicided on July 22, 1958. Her home address was 1012 Howard St. He left a note, but there was no indication of anything happening to Millie in it. Their children were taken in by an aunt and an adult sibling.

I know it looks like her husband killed her. But there's a weird little fact that gives me a gut feeling otherwise. Right after his first wife died, he had an event and ended up in the hospital himself. Big leap here maybe suicide attempt. Now that second wife divorces him, he goes through with it. I don't know if he killed her or not, but it's possible her kids might know.
